

SPECIAL NOTICES

THE PERPETUAL BUILDING ASSOCIATION is a purely cooperative society, having no proprietors, stockholders or profit sharers except its own members, and borrowing money and all other business is transacted solely for the benefit of the members. The money of its members is invested in first mortgage loans on improved real estate, and no loan is permitted to exceed three-fourths of the value, carefully ascertained by the association's own appraisers. Choice loans come to it because there is no commission or bonus of any kind—nothing but a small, moderate charge for verifying the title and drawing and recording the deed of trust, and because a loan, once made, may run for as much as twenty years without the mortgagee's trouble and expense of renewing or extending a short-term loan, and all borrowers share in the great profits.

Out of great profits the association keeps a sufficient reserve to make sure that the long-suffering member will fare as well as those who settle up and receive earlier. It is under the supervision of government inspectors as the national bank, and once a year an exact statement of its condition is printed for the information of all concerned. At its office is a supply of an interesting and instructive pamphlet which tells all about it, and those who would like to put something by for the future should call or send for a copy.

The association has been running for close upon thirty-two years, has nearly seven thousand members, and has accumulated a half million dollars, and ranks as one of the useful middle-class institutions of the capital city.

He Does Not Care Whether the Bread Is Wrapped or Unwrapped, But "He Wants Corby's Bread"

One of the old customers of the Corby Bakery writes as follows:

"I congratulate you on at last winning your long fight to get the public to see the benefit of wrapped bread, which I remember you tried to introduce several years ago—but as far as I am personally concerned I do not care whether the bread is wrapped or unwrapped."

There are thousands of others just like this old customer of CORBY'S BAKERY

TRADE OF UNITED STATES WITH THE PHILIPPINES

Insular Affairs Bureau Reports Increases for Past Nine Months.

During the nine months ending with March last the value of the imports from the United States into the Philippine Islands was $19,468,592, or 44 per cent of the total importations, which amounted to $43,817,234. The increase of 6 per cent in imports over the previous corresponding period was due to an increase in the quantities imported from the United States.

Official statistics of the foreign commerce of the Philippines, compiled by the bureau of insular affairs, show also that this country figured in the Philippine export trade to the amount of $16,837,116, or about 39 per cent of the total value, as against $15,616,867 for the same period of the previous year.

What the Islands Imported.

"Among the articles imported to the islands from the United States," says a statement from the insular bureau, "the goods showed the most marked increase, the value during the latter period being $5,189,464, as against $2,991,036 during the former, an increase of more than 50 per cent. The principal commodities imported were sugar, wheat, and rice. The increase in the value of rice importations was due entirely, however, to the higher prices, the quantities imported was slightly less than during the previous year. The only notable decrease was in the imports of cattle."

Exports to United States.

"The United States purchased hemp from the islands to the value of $10,018,570, an increase of $4,353,715 over the same period of last year. Approximately 80,000,000 cigars with a value of $1,708,293, were exported to this country, which represents a material increase.

"There was a reduction in the value of sugar and copra exportations, due principally, however, to reduced rates rather than to reduced production."

EVIDENCE OF SMALLPOX HIDDEN BY HEAVY VEIL

Member of Colored Congregation Taken to Hospital, Worshippers Vaccinated.

Ellen Baber, colored, residing at 2414 5th street northwest, who had been suffering from smallpox, her face hidden by a veil, last night attended services at St. John's Baptist church, 5th and V streets northwest. Shortly after her arrival the police were notified.

Dr. W. C. Fowler, in charge of the contagious disease service of the health department, reached the church within five minutes after being summoned by telephone. A woman who was heavily veiled was summoned to the door and her face was inspected. She had no trace of the disease, however, but Ellen Baber, the second one called, Dr. Fowler stated, displayed unmistakable signs of smallpox.

Police on Guard.

Requesting the police to guard the church, and to permit none of the worshippers to escape, Dr. Fowler placed her in his automobile and whisked her off to Smallpox Hospital. She suggested that she probably had contracted the disease from Mary Baber, her sister-in-law, residing at 423 V street northwest, and soon her sister-in-law was also conveyed to the hospital.

Health Officer Woodward passed his assistant when the latter was on the way to the hospital with the woman. He was disregarding the speed laws, Dr. Woodward was informed of the situation, and then hurried to the hospital, remaining until the return of Dr. Fowler.

There had been a dusk for windows and doors after church as soon as the worshippers learned they were being detained. The health department was alerted for immediate vaccination. More than fifty of them escaped through the windows before the police reserves reached there. Several managed, also, to get out the front door.

Wholesale Vaccination.

Practically the entire staff of physicians from the health department went to the church and assisted in the work of vaccinating those who had been exposed to the disease. Many earnest protests were made, but the police and physicians made every person in church take the treatment.

Rev. A. Hogan, pastor, was included among those who received the vaccination. Sixty-seven persons were vaccinated. The work was finished shortly after 10 o'clock and the church people returned to their homes.

Today the health officers are trying to locate the persons who escaped from the church last night.

The immigration authorities said they saw no reason to doubt his statement that he was in the water near the fortifications by accident and not by intention.

MILITARY SCIENCE STUDY QUIT FARMS FOR CITIES

College Students Will Go to Camp of Instruction at Gettysburg.

Students from at least twenty universities and colleges will attend the military instruction camps to be held under the auspices of the War Department at Gettysburg National Park, Pennsylvania, from July 7 to August 1, next, and at the Presidio, Monterey, Cal., from July 1, to August 8, inclusive.

Among the institutions which will be represented are the George Washington and Georgetown universities, District of Columbia; Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Cornell universities; Bingham School, North Carolina; Lehigh University, Pennsylvania; Ohio Northern University, Kentucky; Military Institute, University of Arkansas; Colorado University, Oberlin College, Ohio; University of South Carolina, Virginia Military Institute, Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, Rutgers College, New Jersey; Clemson College, South Carolina; Washington and Lee University, Virginia.

Secretary Garrison Gratified.

"I have been very much pleased and gratified," said Secretary Garrison, "with the interest shown by the college students and the encouragement given by prominent men throughout the country to the department's new and original plan of college student camps of instruction in military science. It shows plainly the immense current of patriotism beneath the surface still running strong and pure. There are few people who would not stand ready to serve their country in case of need, but it takes a little higher sort of patriotism and a greater insight into actual needs to give up six weeks of the prized vacation period to military training."

There will be sent to the Gettysburg camp the 3d Battalion of the 5th Infantry and band; Troop A, 15th Cavalry; Battery D of the 3d Field Artillery, as well as detachments from the signal troops and medical corps and a company of engineers, who will give demonstrations in bridge building, field fortification and other practical engineering work.

Emigration Declared to Increase Cost of Living

BRUSSELS, June 9.—The former French premier, M. Meunier, president of the tenth International Congress of Agriculture, in his inaugural address yesterday, emphasized the vital importance of preventing the people of the country from migrating into the cities.

He showed by statistics that, while the population of the world was increasing, the production of cereals and meat was decreasing. He declared that this was the cause of the high cost of living, which tended to become higher and more rapidly.

Many countries, including the United States, are represented at the congress, which will discuss many important questions.
